

WONGO WHIPPED ONCE.

A Lough and Tumble Fight in Which he is Knocked Down.

Last evening there was an exciting time on Water street. A stranger and County Constable Lauchlin got into a dispute about a meal in a restaurant, and Lauchlin whipped the stranger. The latter went away, and soon returned with Herman Coss, a well known North Wheeling blacksmith, who seemed disposed to take his part. Wongo, the Indian pugilist, interlored at this juncture, striking Coss, when Coss knocked him down, and when he got up, knocked him down again. It is said by eye witnesses that Coss lifted Wongo a foot from the ground and knocked him three yards. He would have pursued his advantage, but friends held him.

Lauchlin and Wongo surrendered themselves into the custody of Constable St. Myers, were arraigned before Squire Phillips and fined $3 and costs each. They admitted that in both cases they were the aggressors. Later Officer Watson went to arrest all parties, but was stopped by receipts for the fines already paid.

THE MARK TWAIN CLUB

Get Away for Its Annual Camp Down at Krebber's Landing.

With flags flying and Mayer's band playing, the trim little craft of the Mark Twain Rod and Gun Club dropped down the river from the wharf about half past eight last evening. The boat was crowded, and there was a goodly number of men on the wharf to bid the boys bon voyage.

The band and many of the passengers left the boat at Bonwood and came back to town just before midnight on a street car. The music and cheering attracted attention all through town.

The boys anticipate a great outing this year. Certain it is that there isn't a jollier crowd, on the bosom of the Ohio to-day.

CORBETT MUST GO.

The Court Decides the Exposition People Have a Right to Bounce Him.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Wm. A. Brady, manager for James J. Corbett, took the pugilist's grievances into the circuit court this afternoon. He filed a bill making the World's Columbian Exposition and the Original Vienna Bakery company defendants, and asked that they be restrained from discontinuing the fighting exhibitions on the midway. Judge Connell this afternoon refused to grant an injunction restraining the exposition authorities from removing Corbett from Midway Place. The contract between Corbett and the Exposition gives the latter the power to remove any show from the fairground that it may deem objectionable. This, the judge said, left him no discretion in the matter, and he promptly refused the injunction. This settles the matter and Corbett will have to go.

The Suicide Was a Noted Deaf Mute Teacher—The Pioneer in One Branch.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 19.—Miss Emma Garrett, who committed suicide at Chicago last night, had a world wide reputation as a teacher of deaf children. She was the principal of the oral school for the deaf located at Elwyn, Pa., a few miles from this city. Previous to the establishment of the Elwyn school she was associated with her sister in a similar institution at Scranton, Pa. The Misses Garrett were the pioneers in this line of teaching in this country. Their method was to take deaf children under school age and teach them to read sound by the motion of the lips. Both the Elwyn and Scranton schools have recently been made state institutions. Miss Emma Garrett was between forty and fifty years of age.

FIGHTING IN BRAZIL.

Revolutionists Shoot Prisoners—The Rebels Meet With a Reverse.

VALPARAISO, July 18.—Vigorous fighting is reported to be in progress in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. General Saravia, in command of the revolutionists, pushed forward toward Yaguaron. The advance posts occupied by the government troops were taken. All prisoners captured were shot by the revolutionists. Efforts of the insurgents at Santa Anna were unsuccessful. The revolutionists met with a still further reverse by the seizure of arms intended for them by the Uruguayan authorities in Montevideo.

Brigands Capture a Village.

VIENNA, July 19.—A dispatch from Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, states that a band of brigands raided the village of Lipkari, in the Czernowitz district, last night. The villagers resisted and those of them who had fire arms fired into the brigands, killing five and wounding several of them. A desperate fight ensued, both sides putting forth their utmost endeavors to secure the victory. The brigands, however, were the better armed and had the larger supply of ammunition and they finally put the villagers to flight. Then the brigands looted the village at their leisure and made off with their plunder with hindrance.

The frightened and despoiled villagers notified the authorities at Czernowitz of the robbery and troops are now in pursuit of the brigands.
